PART B

1 Introduction

The Greenshaw Learning Trust collects and uses certain types of personal information about staff, pupils, parents and other individuals in order to provide education and associated functions. The Greenshaw Learning Trust may be required by law to collect and use certain types of information to comply with statutory obligations related to employment, education and safeguarding.

Individuals have the right to access the personal data and supplementary information held about them. This allows them to be aware of, and verify the lawfulness of, you processing this data. This right applies to everyone whose personal data is held, including staff, governors, volunteers, parents and pupils.

Anybody who makes a request to see any personal information held about them by the Greenshaw Learning Trust is making a 'subject access request'. All information relating to the individual, including that held in electronic or manual files should be considered for disclosure, provided that they constitute a 'filing system' as defined in the GLT Data Protection Policy.

Personal data includes, but is not limited to:

- Name
- Address
- Email address
- CCTV images
- Pupil file
- Pupil photos
- Pupil number
- Staff member HR file

2 How to Recognise a Subject Access Request

A subject access request is a request from an individual (or from someone acting with the authority of an individual, e.g. a solicitor or a parent making a request in relation to information relating to their child):

- for confirmation as to whether the personal data is processed by Greenshaw Learning Trust or any of its schools or service units and, if so
- for access to that personal data
- and/or certain other supplementary information

A valid Subject Access Request can be both in writing (by letter, email, WhatsApp text) or verbally (e.g. during a telephone conversation). The request may refer to the UK GDPR and/or to 'data protection' and/or to 'personal data' but does not need to do so in order to be a valid request. For example, a letter which states 'please provide me with a copy of all the information that you have about me' will be a data subject access request and should be treated as such.

Whilst there is no requirement to do so, GLT staff will encourage any individuals who wish to make such a request to use the GLT Subject Access form via the school / GLT website and at Appendix A of this policy. This allows for all information required to be provided to successfully respond to the subject access request.

All completed forms must be provided to the GLT DPO via the link on the website or via email to dataservices@judicium.com who will provide advice and guidance to the Data Protection Lead on how to deal with the request.

3 How to Deal with a Subject Access Request

3.1. Acknowledging the request

When receiving a Subject Access Request the Data Protection Lead within the school / shared service shall acknowledge the request as soon as possible and inform the applicant about the statutory deadline to respond to the request. In addition to acknowledging the request, they may ask for proof of ID if needed or clarification about the requested information. If it is not clear where the information shall be sent, the Data Protection Lead must clarify what address/email address to use when sending the requested information.

3.2. Verifying the identity of the requester

Before responding to a Subject Access Request, the GLT DPO, liaising with the Data Protection Lead, will take reasonable steps to verify the identity of the person making the request. In the case of current employees, this will usually be straightforward. The Data Protection Lead is entitled to request additional information from an applicant in order to verify whether they are in fact who they say they are. In these cases, the applicant must be asked to provide at least two forms of identification, such as a photocopy of a birth certificate, passport, driving licence, bank statement, gas or electricity supplier.

3.3. Requests made by third parties

An individual only has the automatic right to access information about themselves, and care needs to be taken not to disclose the personal data of third parties where consent has not been given, or where seeking consent would not be reasonable, and it would not be appropriate to release the information. Particular care must be taken in the case of any complaint or dispute to ensure confidentiality is protected.

The GLT DPO will need to be satisfied that the third party making the request is entitled to act on behalf of the individual, but it is the third party's responsibility to provide evidence of this entitlement. This might be a written authority to make the request or it might be a more general power of attorney. Proof of identity may also be required in certain circumstances.

If the GLT DPO is in any doubt or has any concerns as to providing the personal data of the data subject to the third party, then they should provide the information requested directly to the data subject. It is then a matter for the data subject to decide whether to share this information with any third party.

3.4. Requests made on behalf of children

Where a child or young person does not have sufficient understanding to make his or her own request (usually those under the age of 12, or over 12 but with a special educational need which makes understanding their information rights more difficult), a person with parental responsibility can make a request on their behalf. The GLT DPO must, however, be satisfied that:

- the child or young person lacks sufficient understanding; and
- the request made on behalf of the child or young person is in their interests.

3.5. Clarification of Requests

If an individual is requesting a large amount of data the Data Protection Lead may ask the requester for more information for the purpose of clarifying the request, but the requester shall never be asked why the request has been made. This should be done as soon as it is known that more information is needed before responding to the request.

3.6. Fee for responding to a Subject Access Request

Usually, there shall be no charge for dealing with a subject access request except in very limited circumstances.

Where a request is “unfounded or excessive” i.e. the request is repetitive or asks for more copies of the same information, a reasonable fee based on the administrative costs may be charged. This will be communicated to the applicant and the period of responding will begin when the fee has been received.

3.7. Time Period for Responding to a Subject Access Request

As soon as permission to proceed has been given by the GLT DPO, the request must be dealt with in full without delay and at the latest within one month of confirmation of identity, clarification or payment as set out in Clauses 3.1-3.6.

The one month deadline includes school closure periods, so schools must ensure that they have procedures in place to monitor and respond to incoming requests at these times.

If the request is complex or numerous the deadline for fulfilling it may be extended to three months but the applicant must be informed of the extended deadline and told why it is necessary. The GLT DPO must be consulted if the deadline is to be extended.

3.8. School closure periods

Requests received during or just before school closure periods may not be able to be responded to within the one calendar month response period. This may be because there may be no one will be on site to receive or to fulfil the request. We may not be able to acknowledge however, we will endeavour to comply with requests as soon as possible and will keep in communication with the applicant as far as possible. If a request is urgent, this should be indicated at the time of submission and, if possible, made during term times and not during/close to closure periods.

3.9. Exemptions to the right of subject access.

Access to records will be refused in instances where an exemption applies within the UK GDPR or Data Protection Act (2018), for example, where information sharing may place the individual at risk of significant harm or jeopardise police investigations into any alleged offence(s).

If refusing a request, for whatever reason, the applicant must be told within one month of making the request why it is being refused, and that they may complain to the Information Commissioner at <https://ico.org.uk/make-a-complaint/official-information-concerns-report/official-information-concern/>

The GLT Data Protection Officer must be consulted if an exemption is to be applied.

3.10. Locating and providing information

The personal data the School need to provide in response to a data subject access request may be located in several of the electronic and manual filing systems. This is why it is important to identify at the outset the type of information requested so that the search can be focused.

Whilst routine updates and amendments may be made to documents following a request, there must be no changes to the records, for example removing information that could be inaccurate or cause embarrassment.

Where all the data in a document cannot be disclosed a permanent copy should be made and the data redacted or retyped this is more sensible. A copy of the full document and the altered document should be retained, with the reason why the document was altered.

The information should be provided in a commonly used electronic format if the request was made electronically, unless the applicant suggests otherwise.

If the request is complex or sensitive, files must be reviewed by the GLT Data Protection Officer before any disclosure takes place. Access will not be granted before this review has taken place.

As soon as the request has been dealt with and the information provided, confirmation must be sent to the GLT Data Protection Officer by email to dataservices@judicium.com.
